

Editorial

Journal of Medicine and Surgery: A Call for Action

Fausto Catena^{1,2}

¹ Department of Medical and Surgical Sciences, Alma Mater Studiorum, University of Bologna, 40126 Bologna, Italy; faustocatena@gmail.com

² Department of General and Emergency Surgery, Bufalini Hospital AUSL Romagna, 47521 Cesena, Italy

Received: 30 December 2025; Accepted: 4 January 2026; Published: 12 January 2026

How To Cite: Catena, F. Journal of Medicine and Surgery: A Call for Action. Journal of Emergency Medicine and Surgery 2026, 1(1), 1.

It is with happiness that we launch the Journal of Emergency Medicine and Surgery, a journal dedicated to the physicians, surgeons, nurses, and healthcare groups working in the emergency field.

Emergency medicine and surgery is not only a medical specialty, it is mission: they represent the critical edge of modern medicine and surgery.

Moreover, emergency medicine and surgery are time dependent disciplines with great complexity and responsibility. This is important in peace and war [1].

Despite this central role in healthcare science emergency medicine and surgery were historically fragmented with knowledge translations issued and underrepresentation [2]. JEMS aims to improve this academic identity.

JEMS mission is to serve as a platform for innovation in Emergency Medicine, Trauma, Acute Care Surgery, Critical Care and Disaster Response.

This new journal has also to represent the scientific home for new technologies, AI tools, robotic surgery and precision-based resuscitation.

JEMS will be the voice for policy/ethics and a forum for global collaboration.

The scope is to create bridges between high-resource and low resource countries sharing real-world practical wisdom.

We will embrace patient safety, sustainability and resilience of emergency healthcare.

JEMS is going to consider clinical trials, systematic reviews, guidelines, case reports in the emergency medical and surgical science [3].

Our credo will be: transparency, scientific rigor, accessibility and inclusivity.

We commit to equitable peer review with fast publication timelines.

JEMS is not simply a new journal, it is a movement determined to elevate the science in emergency medicine and surgery.

Together, we will change the future of the Journal of Emergency Medicine and Surgery creating a new big part of medical and surgical science.

Conflicts of Interest

The author declares no conflict of interest.

Use of AI and AI-Assisted Technologies

During the preparation of this work, the author used ChatGPT to review the article. After using this tool, the author reviewed and edited the content as needed and takes full responsibility for the content of the published article.

References

1. Catena, F.; Moore, F.; Ansaloni, L.; et al. Emergency surgeon: “last of the mohicans” 2014–2016 editorial policy WSES-WJES: position papers, guidelines, courses, books and original research; from WJES impact factor to WSES congress impact factor. World J. Emerg. Surg. 2014, 9, 14

2. Patiño, A.M.; Chen, J.; DeVos, E.L.; et al. Emergency medicine around the world: analysis of the 2019 American College of emergency physicians international Ambassador country reports. J. Am. Coll. Emerg. Physicians Open 2022, 3, e12681.
3. Available online: <https://www.sciltp.com/journals/jems> (accessed on 30 December 2025)